FROM SACRAMENTO.

Another Boodler Concern After the State Printer.

FIGURES ARE MADE TO FIT

The Organ of the American Book Concern Plainly Shows Its Hand.

Special Correspondence of The Republican.

SACRAMENTO, February 12.—The Commercial News of San Francisco, a paper of magnificent pretensions, limited circulation and precarious finances, is after the state printer on the trail recently blazed by the Examiner. Indeed, from some of the earmarks visible above the bushes, it has evidently secured the same erratic guide, who landed its more experienced contemporary in the ditch.

The Commercial News is owned by Payot, Upham & Co. Payot, Upham & Co. are the Pacific coast agents for the American Book concern. Were it not for these coincidences I would sympathize with the Commercial News, as I did with the Examiner, for being the dupe of some irresponsible lunatic. For the tale unfolded in the Commercial News is still more extraordinary for its mendacity and untruthfulness than the one related in the Examiner, and conscience knows that is superfluous, if not impossible.

I have it from pretty good authority that the author of these libels is an ex-commissioner of labor statistics, and that does away with the theory of imbecility, which is inevitably the first impression one receives, if one is at all familiar with the facts, on reading the latest remarkable production. There only remains then the alternative of malicious misrepresentation, for selfish, pecuniary purposes.

It would seem at first blush as though the American Book concern couldn't afford to use such blunt tools in hacking at the state printing office. But they have been engaged in the wrecking business too long not to know the most effective weapons for each emergency. They know that startling and mendacious assertions, backed by an array of figures made to lie cunningly by an unscrupulous accountant, will reach many quarters where contradiction may come too late, if it comes at all.

They also know that their lies will be readily absorbed and promulgated by every envious and prejudiced mind. But after all, what will it all avail? The truth must prevail when it can be so readily demonstrated; when the legislature, the body sought to be peculiarly hoodwinked, is but a step from the door of the state printer, whose records lie open so that all who run may read.

Armed with this interesting "Journal of Civilization," I went to the state printing office today and made some comparisons. It was the same old story as in the Examiner case—deliberate, malacious, mendacious falsification. It is hardly too much to say that in the whole labored article of the News, containing scores of illustrations, there is not one premise honestly stated, one conclusion logically arrived at. The result is a distorted, perverted mass of nonsense.

The News says: "The visitor to the office of our state printer finds something quite remarkable in the record of 'work done. Here is a sample:

"INSURANCE COMMISSIONER.

1891, 800 copies, pages 18, stock	$4 50
Binding	4 50
(Blank space with no entry.)
Total	$113 00

"The expert accountant will struggle in vain to make an arithmetical footing of $113 from two items of $4.50 each, and must draw upon his imagination for a certain portion of the $97,000 paid to compositors to supply the omitted item of printing."

As a matter of fact the expert accountant would struggle, if not completely knocked out by surprise, to imagine why the knave or fool who copied this from the record did not run his fingers along the line until he came to headings "composition" and "press work," containing the principal items of cost, and which would have completed the account and footed up the total as given, $113.

Again, the "expert accountant" of the book concern says: "In like manner the insurance preliminary report of 1892 is recorded—900 copies 18 pages, stock $4.50, binding $7.50, total $125. The annual report of 1891 of the insurance commissioner, of 128 pages, 800 copies printed, is charged with stock $48, binding and electrotyping $112, total $936.

Now, when you go to the record and find the proper amounts for composition, pressw ork and all the other items of cost under their proper headings, and the total foots up just right, and these items are all in their proper place in the same line reaching clear across the page, what are you to think of the creature who deliberately notes down the items of stock, binding and electrotyping, and omits the balance and the principal ones? Is he a candidate for San Quentin, or simply crazy?

In the same way comparisons are made of the cost of California state work with the cost of eastern state work, the writer knowing nothing about the facts in either case, and jumping to erroneous conclusions with the same abandon and sang froid which distinguishes his falsification of the records.

The Commercial News is printed by the Commercial Publishing company and winds up its tirade by a proposal to do the state printing which has cost $219,-640.05 for $50,000, about the cost of the white paper used. I would be poetical justice if the concern were put under bonds and compelled to do the work for that sum, but it probably could not get the plant to start with now that the book concern is down on its luck.

The state printing office is an expensive luxury—far too expensive. But the fault lies in the system, not in the conduct of the office. There is no stealing going on. The commissions with their voluminous and sometimes unnecessary reports are responsible for much of the expense; the legislature, with its flood of useless bills, is responsible for much; the system which allows legislators to force superfluous and oftentimes incompetent men on the office, ought to be abolished. These are palpable and legitimate reforms which the press of the state should urge in the interest of the public good; but to attempt to work the institution from selfish motives, in the interest of an unscrupulous monopoly which would throttle the very children of the commonwealth, is a degree of turpitude which ought to be far below the level of respectable journalism.

JOHN BROWN.

John White and M. Solomon were arrested Sunday for disturbing the peace. They were pummeling one another when officers interfered and prevented further damage. They were allowed to go on their own recognizance by Recorder Laning.

THE GAMBLING CASE.

After Much Deliberation the Jury Announces It Couldn't Agree.

The trial of W. D. Miller, one of the men arrested recently at the Elite saloon for violating the law against conducting or playing a percentage game, was held yesterday before Justice Austin. Assistant District Attorney Mark Walser appeared for the people and Attorney W. D. Grady represented the defendant.

A good portion of the day was spent in getting a jury, the following persons being accepted after a cross-examination: John Doyle, T. W. Pickford, Andy Brown, J. D. Hicks, I. L. Grainger, E. Wolf, A. J. Lane, Eli Henderson, J. F. McDonald, J. S. Ward, J. M. Pugh and G. W. Dowde.

The prosecution put on the stand J. L. Welty, Henry Hussell, W. E. Henry, Jay Scott and others. They were in the saloon on the night of the arrest and were watching the game. The defendant, with others, was playing poker. At every hand a number of checks were taken from the pot and put aside. It seemed to the witnesses very much like a percentage game.

The defendant, in his own behalf, testified that he was not the dealer of the game. That he had merely sat down to the table to take the place of another player. The game was draw poker and not a percentage game. The checks taken out of the pot and laid aside were merely to pay for the drinks and cards. Instead of paying for the drinks by turning the high or low card, a number of checks were taken from the pot each hand.

It was quite late when the testimony closed and the court adjourned till 7 o'clock. At that hour the attorneys made their arguments and the case was then submitted to the jury. The jury remained out much longer than it was expected they would. They finally returned into court and announced that they had not been able to agree upon a verdict, standing six for conviction and six for acquittal. The jury was dismissed. The case will be tried again and will be prosecuted with vigor.

ON TO MONTEREY.

FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS CONTRIBUTED YESTERDAY.

W. W. Phillips Gives His Opinion Regarding Siburianism in Fresno.

The finance committee appointed at the last mass meeting in behalf of the Monterey & Fresno railroad went on a collecting tour yesterday afternoon, and in about three hours collected a little more than $4000, the most of which was subscribed in small sums.

W. W. Phillips was asked by a REPUBLICAN reporter yesterday as to his opinion of the prospects of the road being built. He said:

"It seems to me that the property owners of this town are not awake to the real importance of building this road. The terminal facilities which it will offer will be of great benefit to the producers especially. In fact they will be benefited more than any other class of people. If the properly owners of this county are not the people to aid and encourage this enterprise who are? We cannot call upon the working classes, because although they also will be benefited they cannot afford to subscribe anything. If the people of Fresno will not take hold of this thing what will they take hold of?

"If this county is divided and Madera is made the county seat there is a strong probability, in the failure of Fresno to do her part, that the road may go to Madera. The people of this town are not alive to their personal interests if they don't encourage this enterprise all that they can.

"If Fresno's proportion of the bonus is not raised to pay the first interest on the bonds of this road as they desire it will certainly fall through. Can it be possible that the people of Fresno who have the name and reputation abroad as a broad-gauged, liberal and progressive community will sit down and allow this opportunity to escape them at this time.

"A good deal has been said about the Pollasky road, especially to the effect that the people had been gulled on that project. But the men who put up their money for the right of way, etc., on the road have not uttered one word of complaint. They say that they are enjoying more than value received for every dollar they put up."

THE DOWNWARD PATH.

Pat Malloy Forgets Good Resolutions and Errs Again.

On Sunday evening Pat Malloy asked Captain Van Loan for the key to the Salvation Army headquarters, saying he wanted to get the cornet, it being his intention to regale the ladies and gentlemen who attend the army's exercises with some choice music.

The Captain unsuspectingly handed Malloy the key, but instead of getting the cornet Malloy broke into the Captain's trunk with a hammer and stole fifty and some odd dollars belonging to the army's general fund. He went across the track to Chinatown and spent $20 or $30 in a way that afforded him considerable temporal pleasure.

Malloy then went to the depot and purchased a ticket to San Francisco. In the meantime Captain Van Loan had discovered the theft and swore to a complaint charging Malloy with burglary. Special Officer Mead was given the warrant and he arrested Malloy shortly before train time.

Malloy has rather a bad record. He has served a term in the industrial school in San Francisco and has done time in San Quentin for burglary. Not very long ago he was sent to jail for petty larceny by Recorder Laning, was elected to a prominent place in the kangaroo court and helped to fleece a man who was brought in one night for being drunk. The victim swore to a complaint charging Malloy with robbery. Malloy was examined, but the evidence proving insufficient, the charge was dismissed. When he had served his term Malloy promised to reform, and was accepted by the Salvation Army as a probationer. It seems, however, that temptation was too strong for him.

NOT VERY TRUTHFUL

Is the Reputation Given Barrington

THE SAN JOSE EDITOR

Johnson's Trial Productive of a Great Deal of Personal Animosities.

SACRAMENTO, February 13.—The hearing of the Johnson defense began before the assembly investigating committee this evening.

Assemblyman Brownlee took the stand and testified that he had given Johnson a card with names marked on it of candidates whom he thought would vote for White for United States senator. These names corresponded with the names on the card given in evidence.

Antonio Frank, cashier of a bank at San Jose, next took the stand. He said that last November Johnson came to the bank and wanted to borrow $100. Johnson about this time tried to borrow money from John Ryland.

The next witness was John Barrington of San Jose, who was formerly state senator from Santa Clara. He testified that McKenzie, one of Rea's principal witnesses, had a reputation for untruthfulness in San Jose, where he lives.

Charles W. Fay said that Barrington's reputation for truth and veracity was also unsavory.

W. W. Robin testified that Barrington's reputation in San Jose was very bad.

H. H. Main also said that Barrington's reputation was bad in San Jose.

W. J. White also so testified.

G. W. Lowry testified that McKenzie's character was bad.

John Henry Phelps, who testified that he had a public office in San Jose for a great many years, said that Edwards' reputation for truth was very bad in connection with any subject where Rea's interests were concerned.

The committee then adjourned till tomorrow night.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

W. J. Dickey and Ex-Sheriff Hensley Among the Defendants.

Special to The Republican.

VISALIA, February 13.—Manuel Cordoza has begun suit against E. D. Vogelsang, D. A. Learned, George Schwinn, J. W. Hensley and W. J. Dickey to obtain $10,000 damages for unlawful arrest. The complaint says that on or about the 10th day of May, 1892, Vogelsang, as constable, without probable cause and without any authority of law arrested the plaintiff in the night time at the city of Hanford and forcibly restrained him of his liberty and conveyed him to the city of Fresno and there turned him over to J. M. Hensley, sheriff of Fresno county, who also unlawfully restrained the plaintiff of his liberty in the jail of Fresno county. That said arrest was made at the request of W. J. Dickey and that George Schwinn and D. A. Learned are the bondsmen of Constable Vogelsang. Jacobs, Short & Mickle are attorneys for Cordoza.

Hope to Win.

HELENA, Mont., February 13.—Contrary to expectations the senatorial controversy was not settled today. An evening paper says: "Serious trouble was expected on the floor of the joint convention, as the betrayals of the party made the men desperate, and bloodshed was threatened as a sequel to the political dishonesty. The Herald claims evidence of bribery and fraud, already secured will be presented to the grand jury of Clark and Lewis counties now in session. Democrats are confident that they will ultimately elect their senator."

Caught His Ear.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., February 13.—Senator Vest of Missouri came out on the early morning train and had a long talk with Cleveland today. He urged the claims of ex-Governor Francis of Missouri for the interior or agricultural portfolio. Senator Martin of Kansas and Dr. S. F. Moley from the same state arrived here today in the interests of ex-Governor G. W. Glick of Kansas for secretary of agriculture.

A Friendly Hand.

LAKEWOOD, N.J., February 13.—Cleveland received a letter today from President Harrison couched in the most friendly terms and proffering the hospitalities of the White House before inauguration. Harrison also offered to assist Cleveland in every way in his power in regard to public business and matters of state.

Hodapp-Cullom.

Frank Hodapp and J. J. McMahon, two prominent Contra Costans, arrived from Martinez, Sunday on a pleasant mission. Mr. Hodapp will this evening take to wife Miss Beulah M. Cullom of Selma, daughter of Judge Cullom. Mr. McMahon will act as groomsman. The ceremony will be performed at the residence of the bride's parents in Selma. Mr. Hodapp is one of Martinez's most popular and well-to-do young men, and Miss Cullom could not have trusted her future to a better man. The bride is said to be a very amiable and accomplished young lady. Mr. McMahon is a prominent member of the Martinez Choral society and an actor and singer of more than ordinary ability. He is also a shrewd and wealthy business man. He and Mr. Hodapp spent yesterday in Fresno and were much pleased with why they saw. Mr. McMahon will probably invest in some orchard property.

The Tables Turned.

A. M. Dillwood hitched his horse and cart to one of the posts on the K street side of court house park early last evening. When he returned an hour later the rig was gone. No news has since been received of the missing property.

BAKERSFIELD had "A Turkish Bath" last night, and found it a good deal more enjoyable than the ditch water bath which it took a few days ago.

A "PINK butter bill" is the latest legislative fad in Missouri. It declares that oleomargarine or butterine sold in that state must be colored pink, so as to indicate on its face that it is not the real article.

THE idolatrous enthusiasm of the Cleveland worshipers is illustrated in the way they smack their lips in anticipation of the Gresham crow. They would swallow anything which Grover set before them—and return thanks.

THE Triangle is evidently becoming hungry for another contract to let. They have not had the chance to let anything to the highest bidder for several weeks, and their calculations have been badly knocked out of shape by the action of the Fresno street property owners. The only suggestion which this paper can make is that a contract be let to somebody to scrape $500 worth of plaster out of the gutters. They could be considerably improved in that way.

"JUDGE JACKSON," says Senator Washburn of Minnesota, "is not an old state rights Democrat, as has been reported. He comes of old Whig stock, and I have no doubt that on all political questions he will vote with the Republicans. He was a Union man during the war, which proves conclusively that he never was a believer in the state rights doctrine. Judge Jackson is a man of great ability, and his appointment is a most excellent one. Republicans who are criticising President Harrison for not appointing a member of his own party are too hasty. I doubt if any Republican Mr. Harrison could have nominated would have been confirmed. There is no limit to debate in the senate, you know, and the Democrats could easily prevent a vote upon any nomination between now and March 4th."

THE Torrey bankruptcy bill has once more failed to pass the house on account of disgraceful filibustering. The huge Democratic majority has surrendered its prerogatives to such an extent that a few brazen and unscrupulous filibusters are able to dominate the house completely, to dictate what legislation shall and shall not pass and to defeat non-partisan bills of the highest moment, like the bankruptcy act. The Torrey bill is a measure in the interest of common honesty, and the Democratic house cannot avoid the responsibility for its failure. It is useless for Democrat members to endeavor to escape blame by declaring that they are in favor of the bill. By deliberately adopting a set of rules which places the whole house at the mercy of filibusters they have made themselves responsible for the failure to pass the legislation which the business interests of the country need and demand.

MRS. J. ELLEN FOSTER of Iowa, president of the Woman's Republican association which is pursuing the work of education in home circles and by organization of clubs, has engraved visiting cards, on the back of which is printed the following declaration:

The Republican party is the party of action; its breath is progress; its speech is the language of the world; its dialect the rhetoric of the home and the farm and the shop; its shibboleth might be written on the white walls of any church. It holds within its ranks the armies of all reforms. It studies political conditions, weighs popular sentiment, and seizes the earliest hour to crystallize that sentiment into wise legislation.

Its heroic constituencies are the thinking, moving, vital elements of American life.

Is it any wonder that the women support such a party?

Upon this platform Mrs. Foster and her 10,000 associates in different parts of the country intend to conduct a vigorous campaign during the next four years.

TULARE Register: "The more we see of the alleged wisdom of so-called practical politics the less do we regard it. President Harrison nominated for a seat upon the supreme bench a conservative and capable Democrat, whereat Mr. Clarkson and his coterie of practical politicians rise up and charge the President with treason to his party. This is the same Clarkson who, with "me-too" Platt of New York, started the eleventh-hour campaign of Mr. Blaine, a man upon whom the hand of death already rested, and with that august specter succeeded in defeating the Republican party at the last election. But for the ill considered Blaine movement and the schism it created in the party, it is altogether likely that Mr. Harrison would have been re-elected; for, as Tulare goes so goes the world, and the percentage of Blaine stalwarts in Tulare who voted for Cleveland in preference to Harrison, applied to the rest of the country accounts for the landslide of November last. Our observation leads us to the conclusion that the head of the so-called practical politician mostly runs to mouth."

THE New Orleans Times-Democrat is a strongly partisan Democratic newspaper, but it is forced to admit the benefits which Republican reciprocity is conferring upon the country in general and the south in particular. The Times-Democrat points out that our exports to the countries embraced in the scheme of reciprocity increased from $50,000,000 for eleven months in 1890 to $92,300,000 in the corresponding period of 1892. And it acknowledges that these figures indicate that "quite an impetus" has been imparted to our export trade with Latin America. It adds: "As there is no other possible cause to which to assign that impetus the credit of the result lies with reciprocity." Doubtless that paper is right in its conclusion, but in supporting the Democratic policy the Times-Democrat is working for the overthrow of the system which has done so much to increase our trade to the southward. The Chicago platform explicitly denounces "the sham reciprocity which juggles with the people's desire for enlarged foreign markets." The south has already discovered how valuable and substantial that "juggling" is. If reciprocity could be spared in the general crusade of destruction against all Republican legislation to which the incoming government is pledged, the southern states, situated as they are most favorably for commerce with Latin America, would find a rich and yearly growing market for southern products.

A BILL abolishing capital punishment and substituting imprisonment for life as the penalty for murder has been passed in the senate of Pennsylvania without any opposition. Pennsylvania will probably punish more murderers hereafter than she ever did while the death penalty appealed for false clemency.—Los Angeles Times.

The trend of public sentiment is undoubtedly in the direction of the more humane punishment of criminals. Whether better results will follow the abolishment of the death penalty is a matter of doubt. The experience of some states which have tried it do not furnish a great deal of encouragement. Another feature of this reform movement in the treatment of criminals which will undoubtedly be productive of good is the proposition to reserve the net earnings of imprisoned convicts for their own benefit. In case the convict is a married man his earnings are given to his family; if unmarried, they are turned over to him upon the expiration of his term. This proposition has much to commend it. The object of the state should unquestionably be to reform as well as to punish its criminals, and the chances are certainly better for a man who goes forth into the world again with enough money to pay his living expenses for a reasonable length of time, or who has been able during his imprisonment to contribute to the support of his family. There is no reason founded on justice why the state should profit by the labor of those whom it finds necessary to punish. Such a policy tends to break all ties with the outside world, and to harden rather than reform the criminal.

THE Expositor a day or two ago stated that Sheriff Scott has two more deputies than his predecessor. This is an error. Mr. Scott has now the same number of deputies that Hensley had. Up to a few days ago he had one less, but the supervisors have since allowed him a night watchman at $65 a month. Mr. Hensley's night watchman was allowed $3 a day. The board being Democratic probably thinks a Democratic watchman is worth a little more than a Republican.

Women Office Seekers.

The women who apply for places are very hard to get rid of. When informed that there is no vacancy they usually say, "The secretary can always make one more place." Many of them make most humble and pathetic appeals, saying, "For pity's sake, let me scrub the floors or do anything by which I may earn my bread." Yet these same individuals, after securing situations and occupying them for two or three days, are pretty sure to demand three things—promotion, leave of absence and lighter work. Women can never be convinced that there is any sincerity in the civil service law. They almost always think that they can get around it and secure places in the classified service through influence.—Washington Cor. New York Sun.

How Ladies of India Wear Bangles.

Glass bangles in India are regarded as sacred objects. If a glass bangle be accidentally broken, its pieces must be gathered together and kissed three times. Every Hindoo woman wears these ornaments until her husband dies, when she breaks them with a brick or stone and substitutes for them gold or silver ones, a sign in north India that the wearer is either a widow or a less estimable woman. The demand for glass bangles is never failing. They are manufactured in abundance in the northwestern provinces as well as in the Punjaub.—New York Press.

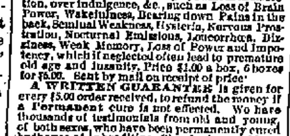

A Natural Compass.

The rosin weed, a species of silphium and first cousin to the burdock, is a natural compass. It grows everywhere in the west, and wherever it is found in open ground—that is, in ground not shaded by trees, houses or fences, its leaves point directly north and south.—Exchange.

THE BLUME TRIAL.

A Day of Objections Raised by the Defendant.

TESTIMONY OF DR. JACOBY

In Minute Detail He Describes the Injuries Received by the Deceased.

Nothing very important was developed in the Blume murder trial yesterday, nearly every question being objected to by the counsel for the defendant.

Mrs. Rush, a sister of Blume, arrived from San Francisco yesterday morning. She had not seen him for six years, and when she met him she was deeply affected.

R. W. Wood of Centerville testified that Haskins said to him on the morning after he received his injuries: "I think, Bob, old boy, that I am done for this time."

The witness found some bloody hairs against the timbers of the flume. They were of the same color as Haskins' hair.

The witness could not recollect as to whether the bits of hair were on the inside or outside edge of the mudsill of the flume on the side next the river.

On cross-examination the witness said that he could not swear positively that it was Haskins' hair, but he believed that it was, from the fact that the deceased was there. Some of the spots of blood were as large as the palm of the witness' hand, but the witness never measured the spot, and he could not state in inches the size of the palm of his hand.

Dr. J. Jacoby of Centerville testified that on the afternoon of the day on which Haskins was injured he met Haskin. Haskins was in ordinarily good health and was not under the influence of liquor. He was not addicted to the use of intoxicating liquor, and the witness never saw him otherwise than sober at any time.

The witness saw the deceased the next time at midnight. Mrs. Haskins, Will Haskins, her son, Mr. McHaley and about 20 or 30 other persons were there. The pulse of the deceased was weak and feeble and his extremities were cold. All that Haskins said was, "I did not fall." The right side of his face was swollen to the cheek bone. The eyes were swolen and closed. His hair looked as if it had been scraped off or pulled out. The skull over the right eye was fractured, but the fracture did not appear to be pressing on the brain, because he was in his right mind at the time. Five teeth on the left side—the front molars and the bicuspids—were knocked out. There was also a fracture of the larger bone of the left forearm. After the deceased was taken to the house he vomited some blood and one of his teeth.

The next morning the witness found bruises over the left ear and on the back of the head across the base of the skull. There was also a slight bruise in the left groin about three or four inches in diameter and some of the small capillaries under the skin were ruptured. The deceased complained of severe pains in his back and this led the Doctor to examine for more bruises. The wound in the left groin was only slightly discolored and the skin was not broken. The wound was over the kidneys.

A human skull was handed to the Doctor, and he drew upon it with a lead pencil a representation of the fracture. The facture was two and five-eighths inches in length and was diamond shaped. The skin of the scalp over the fracture was not broken.

The court adjourned until 9.30 this morning.

A TULARE MURDER.

Bloody Affray in a Disreputable Visalia Saloon.

The Visalia Delta published an account of a murder committed in that town shortly after midnight last Sunday morning.

"A little after midnight a pistol shot startled the people living in the 'doubtful part of the town, who immediately after began to gather at the 'Round house.' Francisco Rodriguez, known as Frank Rodgers, and 'Mucho,' a tall, broad-shouldered Mexican with a wooden leg, who fired the shot, gave himself up to Nightwatchman Patnot, who was soon after on the spot.

"Rodriguez said that he had a difficulty with a Mexican named Incarnacion Gonzales that the latter reached for a pistol, and he (Rodriguez) being a cripple, did not want to take any chances and pulled his revolver and fired in self-defense. He says he has lived here since '77, is well known, and that he had no reason for wishing to escape. He appeared to be familiar with what was expected of a prisoner, and when asked 'if he had anything,' pulled out a purse, two pocket knives and a revolver with one empty chamber. As he left the jailers office for his cell he laughed and said 'Good night,' and remarked that it was the first time he had been there.

"On visiting the Round house about 1 o'clock this morning, the body of Gonzales was found where he fell. It was said by Mexicans present that the two men got into an altercation in the saloon in the rear of the building; that those in the saloon came forward to the front building. the two men who were quarreling coming after. A shot was the first intimation they had that the quarrel was likely to terminate seriously.

"The coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased came to his death from a bullet wound inflicted by Rodriguez."

DAN BROWN ESCAPED.

He Led Policeman Outbirth a Merry Chase and Got Away.

Dan Brown is an expert on escaping. He stole a suit of clothes belonging to A. J. Wiener several months ago and made his escape. He was afterwards captured and served a term in the county jail, from which institution he was discharged about three weeks ago.

Last Saturday he entered the residence of W. D. Grady, his former employer, and stole a quantity of clothing and a carpet. The carpet he sold to Lyons, the furniture man, at whose place it was found by the police.

Dan was arrested yesterday afternoon by Special Policeman Outbirth and when he got half way through the court house park Dan bolted and ran like a deer through the park and to Kern street, pursued by the policeman.

Dan made his way like a wild coyote down I street, and when opposite the Kohler house he ran against a woman with so much force that he knocked her down. If she had not worn a bustle she would have sustained serious injuries.

Dan is a fleet runner, and when last seen was heading towards Selma.

THE NIHILISTS.

William Jackson Armstrong Will Tell All About Them

William Jackson Armstrong, the renowned traveler and lecturer, will lecture at the Adventist church tomorrow evening on the Russian Nihilists and the horrors of Siberia.

Mr. Armstrong's oration on the Nihilists is said to be the almost the finest piece of oratory ever heard from the American platform. It was first given at the request of Henry Ward Beecher, Rev. DeWitt Talmage and Rev. Dr. Storrs in Brooklyn, N. Y., repeated by the invitation of Hon. Abraham Hewitt, late mayor of New York city, in Cooper institute to 5000 people, and again delivered at the request of the United States congress in Washington, D. C., the celebrated orator, Robert G. Ingersoll, presiding on the occasion and introducing the lecturer, whose eloquence as there heard sent George Kennan to Siberia to investigate and report for the Century Magazine the horrors of Siberia prisons, recently attracting so much attention throughout the United States.

The Rev. Dr. O. O. Stratton, president of Willamette university, says of Mr. Armstrong: "He is the greatest platform orator who has visited the Pacific coast."

General Nelson A. Miles, of the United States army, who heard Mr. Armstrong in Metropolitan temple, San Francisco, says: "I have heard all the great speakers in the country, and I consider William Jackson Armstrong among the foremost."

THE DRURY CONCERT.

IT WAS A GREAT ARTISTIC SUCCESS.

Music of a High Order Very Acceptably Interpreted—The Program.

The testimonial concert given Edward M. Drury at Kutner hall last evening was an artistic success. From a financial standpoint it was not all that it should have been, the attendance being only fairly large.

The concert opened with an organ solo played by E. M. Drury. His selection was Guilmant's "Grand Chœur in D." Mr. Drury is an excellent organist, and his rendition of the inspiring chorus was very good.

Next came Mr. Price, who sang "Then you'll remember me," from Balfe's Bohemian Girl. He sang it quite well and will be remembered.

Al Braverman played a mazurka by Wieniawski with marvelous facility and dash and was warmly applauded.

A song "A Lovely Heart, Trust In" to be sung by Mrs. C. K. Kirby Jr. was next on the program. The heart had ceased to trust, or something else was the matter, for Mrs. Kirby didn't sing. Instead Mrs. Lydia Warren Roberts sang "Ciascun lo dice," from the Daughter of the Regiment, very brilliantly. She was encored and responded gracefully.

Miss Ethel Nourse's rendition on the piano of a nocturne by Meyer-Helmund's was very much enjoyed. It was played with great expression. Mrs. Drury's rich contralto was heard in Mascheroni's "For All Eternity," with violin obligated by J. W. Baume.

Mr. Lee was down for a song, "I Fear No Foe." He evidently feared a foe or some other person, or something, for he did not toe the scratch, unmusically speaking.

The first part of the program closed with a very pretty duet, sung by Mesdames Drury and Baume, entitled "O'er the Hawthorne Hedge." An organ solo by Mr. Drury opened the second part of the program. He first played an andante movement in G minor by Mendelssohn, closing with an andante in E flat by Morandi. The selection gave the player an opportunity to show his skill.

The song "Dear Heart," sung by C. M. Pyke, was undoubtedly one of the most enjoyable numbers on the program. He was in excellent voice and sang with it. Leo Brack, formerly a student at the Leipzig conservatory of music, played Thomas' overture to "Mignon" excellently. His execution is brilliant and his touch exceptionally good. The other numbers were a violin solo by J. W. Baume, song by Mrs. Lydia Warren-Roberts, song by Mr. Telfer and a quartet by Mesdames Baume and Drury and Messrs. Price and Telfer. They were all very satisfactorily rendered. Mrs. Roberts was encored and sang "Bid Me Discourse" in response. The audience seemed very much pleased and applauded liberally.

FRESNO AND THE SEA

The Road Will Be a Paying Investment.

MONTEREY A GOOD HARBOR

Suggestions Whereby All Objections to the Scheme May Be Removed.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—Having taken an interest in the very important subject now being discussed by the citizens of this section of our state—that of building a railroad by home enterprise from the San Joaquin valley to Monterey—the undersigned offers the following views and suggestions through the columns of your valuable paper for the perusal of its many readers:

In the first place it is too impressively evident to the homebuilders and tillers of the soil in this part of the country that they need relief from the present high rates for passengers and freights for them to become as prosperous as they would be if they were situated as other people are who enjoy the privileges of water communication with the markets for their produce, and which people are favored in consequence by lower rates of fares and freights in proportion to the number of miles traversed than are our people. It is a wonder then that our people, when they see themselves thus discriminated against by a corporation which has no competition, to whom they are compelled to yield an exorbitant share of the profits of their toil, straighten up their tired backs and look about them for a medium of relief?

Then the first question they ask themselves is: "Is there a practicable avenue through which we may obtain the relief which we so much need?" Then some will answer themselves and say: "We are afraid if we do find it, it will be filched from us."

To the latter I would say I think they need not be troubled with such fears. That is just what has kept this valley at the mercy of one corporation so long.

The opportunity seems near at hand for us to obtain the relief so long yearned for. It looks now that all we have to do is to say that we want it and we shall have it. All that we have to do is to encourage the movement for the proposed railroad to the sea, and it is ours. The almost universal opinion is that to build it is easy enough, but the most important consideration is to keep it independent. To me that looks easily enough practicable. If the railroad, when built, will be worth striving for by the Southern Pacific company—to obtain its control—why should it not be worth so much the more to our citizens?

It seems to me that view of the subject should be only an incentive to build it. Then some will say: "How may we be assured that the Southern Pacific will not eventually secure control of this road?"

Here is a plan that looks to me practicable that would forever keep it out of the hands of the Southern Pacific:

When the people of Fresno grant a right of way to the proposed road to Monterey let it be on condition that such right of way shall be forfeited should the proposed road by any means come into the possession of the Southern Pacific or any other combination in alliance with it; or that said road shall not be leased to that company or any corporation connected with it.

Monterey has offered grounds and her water front to the proposed road. Let her restrict her grant to the same conditions; let the towns and farmers along the proposed route restrict their grants and concessions to the same conditions; or another plan would be to lease the rights of way, grounds for depots, and water front privileges for a nominal rental for a term of ninety-nine years, the lease for the same to expire at any time the moment the Southern Pacific or any allied syndicate or corporation should put its hands on the proposed road.

Ninety-nine years is a good lifetime for anything, and if the proposed road, when built, should last that long independent of the Southern Pacific, it ought to have so inspired the inhabitants with good faith in its utility and success that it would be able to dictate terms with the S. P. Co.

Some may ask: "Will the road be a financial success, or will it pay expenses, and is Monterey a safe harbor?"

As soon as the road can be built we may obtain coal from Puget sound and British Columbia for fuel, and pine and cedar lumber for building purposes, and fish from Alaska, and apples and potatoes from Oregon, and send our oranges and raisins in return for a nominal sum, compared with what we have to pay now.

It will be but a few years, comparatively, when the Nicaragua canal will be opened to the commerce of the world; then we can do away with transcontinental freights for Europe our raisins and other products; we can obtain such articles as we have to import by the ocean route in ships, laid on the wharves at Monterey.

If any one thinks the freight traffic of Fresno is insignificant, let him pay frequent visits to the switches of the Southern Pacific company and observe the laden cars, and the engines that never cease working, moving them about—night and day—and then ask himself if the Monterey road, with the Nicaragua canal completed, would pay or be in danger of falling into the hands of the Southern Pacific.

Another item, by no means inconsiderable: Every summer, even now with the present high passenger rates, many families go to the seaside—many to Monterey. If the proposed road were built we would not only have a cheap and direct means of communication with the seaside for our own people, but numbers who go from San Francisco and other parts of the state to that famous resort would take advantage of the opportunity thus afforded to visit our vineyards and orange groves who do not come now.

Is Monterey a safe harbor? It is true not many sailing vessels go there now, but it is only because there is not much for them to go there for; but of the hundreds of vessels that ply up and down our coast, how many can we chronicle as having been wrecked along the coast of Monterey as compared with other points? There is food for reflection while considering this subject. The coast steamers on the southern route experience no difficulty in making regular calls at Monterey. Even the well known little coaster Gypsey, which steams about six knots an hour, has entered its waters fearlessly in all sorts of weather for years. The writer of this knows whereof he speaks, having been on the ocean for years and seen many ports. Monterey is a harbor where sailing vessels can sail up to an anchorage without the aid of a tug in safety when she has business there, and if the occasion should arise suddenly, when it become necessary for her to put to sea, she would not have to wait for a tug to help her depart. According to my view, Monterey is a safe harbor and a cheap one for vessels to enter, and a line of wharves could be constructed from Santa Cruz to the town of Monterey. All that Monterey lacks to bring ships to her waters is not a harbor, but business. It was considered the harbor for the safety of sailing ships in the days before the great gold discovery of '49.

It was for that reason that Monterey was the first capital of the great territory of California. It is the town where the stars and stripes of this great republic first unfurled to the breeze on the land of this coast, sent ashore from an American man-of-war, lying safely at anchor in the waters of the bay of Monterey.

ANOTHER RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Brakeman George Fox Receives Very Serious Injuries.

About 3 o'clock Sunday evening George Fox, employed by the Southern Pacific company as a passenger brakeman, was run over by the caboose of a freight train, and received injuries that resulted in the loss of a leg and the serious injury of a hand.

Fox was standing on the track watching the passenger train, and did not notice the approach of the caboose. It struck him, and in falling he caught hold of some rod or other on the caboose, and was dragged a short distance. His left leg was run over, but his presence of mind in clinging to the car saved his life. Fox's left hand was also injured so seriously that it may have to be amputated.

After the accident Fox was conveyed to a room in the Bradley building, where he received the attention of the railroad surgeon, Dr. Maupin. The doctor amputated the injured limb, and will probably take off Fox's hand when he has recovered somewhat from the shock of the first operation. Fox bore the pain bravely, but he was very much affected by the thought that he would be a cripple.

The injured man is a son of Judge Fox of Oakland. His parents were notified of the accident, and arrived from the bay on last evening's train.

The McDougald is Here.

Constable Matheson arrived this morning from Lakeport with C. McDougald, a Lakeport lawyer who is wanted here on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. McDougald said that he was on a jamboree while here and he did not remember anything that he did except draining the flowing bowl. He said also that if he had owed any money his creditors would have been paid in full if they had waited until Monday or Tuesday.

MITROVICH-NORMAN.

THE FAMOUS CATERER BECOMES A BENEDICT.

Father Garriga Performs the Ceremony in the Presence of a Few Friends.

A very pretty wedding indeed was that of Matteo Mitrovich and Miss Nellie M. Norman, which was celebrated at noon Sunday at the Maison Mitrovich on I street.

The groom's many friends had begun to think he had taken the vow of celibacy, but it seems he was only waiting till his ideal happened along. This meeting between Mitrovich and his ideal occurred some months ago, and the course of their love ran so smoothly that any one could have predicted the result.

The wedding ceremony was performed in the private parlor of the Maison Mitrovich. Father Garriga officiating. Dante R. Prince and Miss Leona Duquesne stood up with the bridal pair. Only a few friends and the relatives of the contracting parties were present.

After the ceremony the company repaired to the private dining room, where the wedding dinner was served. It lasted several hours, and was a chef d' oeuvre of the culinary art. Everything good in and out of season was put before the guests, and some old vintages of Chateau Lafitte, Haut Sauturne, Roederer and Pommery were sampled. The occasion was enlivened with a number of witty toasts, Mr. Prince in particular excelling in this regard.

The dinner over, a sociable hour was spent in conversation and music. In the evening the newly wedded couple were serenaded by some friends and Mr. Mitrovich did the grand in princely style.

The groom has for many years conducted the well known restaurant, Maison Mitrovich, and is a caterer of the first rank. He has many friends, who will be glad to hear of his good fortune. The youthful bride is one of the most beautiful young ladies in this city and possesses many accomplishments. She was simply dazzling in her handsome and becoming wedding gown. She is from Illinois, and has been on the coast a comparatively short time. Her father, George W. Norman, is an employe of Radin & Kamp.

Mr. and Mr. Mitrovich will make their home in apartments in the Maison Mitrovich. They are furnished in a handsome and artistic manner and are a fitting setting for the charming bride. They will be at home to their friends after February 18th. THE REPUBLICAN joins their many friends in wishing them well.

A FALSE STORY.

Henry Bigelow and Eva Evans Are Not Married.

HE HAS A WIFE OF HIS OWN

The Stockton Independent in its issue of last Sunday published the following silly story:

"LATHROP, February 11.
"Editor Independent.—From reliable information I was informed that Henry Bigelow, the famed ex-reporter who interviewed Sontag and Evans last year, was married this morning to Miss Eva Evans, daughter of Chris Evans, at Visalia. They passed through here this evening en route to Sacramento and will go to the Golden Eagle hotel. They are endeavoring to keep the marriage secret and are traveling on separate passes. The bride is quite pleasant looking, with a remarkable growth of flaxen hair. She seemed to be quite pleased with her surroundings while seated in the car awaiting the start to Sacramento hurriedly.
"SLOAN."

If the managing editor of the Independent had known what almost every newspaper man in California knows, that Mr. Bigelow has a wife and two handsome children in San Francisco, he would not have published a story so foolish. The story about the passes also is improbable, for it is not likely that the Southern Pacific company would issue a pass to Chris Evans' daughter or to any other member of the Evans family.

Mrs. Chris Evans was interviewed last night in the Grand Central hotel by a REPUBLICAN reporter. She unhesitatingly pronounced the story as false in every particular.

"Mr. Bigelow is a married man," she she added, "and has two children. I have his wife's picture with me now. She is a sweet English lady. I don't see why they are always starting those stories about us. They may say whatever they please now about my husband and Mr. Sontag, but I and my daughter should not be held responsible for anything they may have done."

"How old is Eva now?" was asked.

"She will be 17 on the 13th of next May," replied Mrs. Evans. "I am all alone with no one to advise me or to consult, and these stories worry me very much. I am sure that I have enough to bear without being persecuted by the malicious attacks of these evil minded persons, whoever they may be."

Social and Entertainment.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church will give a social and entertainment at the church Friday evening, February 17th. A splendid musical and literary program has been prepared. Refreshments will also be served. The admission to entertainment and refreshments will be 25 cents. All are invited and a pleasant time assured. *

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE.

Things Which Belong to the Body Coverings for the Night.

The hours of repose are among the essentials of the many matters of routine which contribute in varying measures toward existence. With these hours go the clothing for the night.

Many ideas are prevalent in regard to what should be worn at the time when one ordinarily prepares for that repose which is to give energy for the following day. One person has an opinion that a certain form of night robe and a bed covering of particular construction or character are the proper things for health and for comfort. Ordinarily these convictions of thought are not worth a serious consideration. A little common sense goes a great way and carries with it nearly every thing that suggests a proper habiliment for the hours of sleeping.

In the first place there is the body garment proper, and this is from a purely sanitary standpoint best exemplified in the pajamas. Pajamas cover both body and limbs and furnish all necessary warmth and comfort. They are loose fitting and thoroughly comfortable, and so very easily adjusted that any one can put them on the body with that facility with which an ordinary night shirt is placed. Women who may be averse to adopting clothes which may outwardly appear manlike may find in health a goal well worth contesting, and in covering themselves with that style of garment which is thoroughly sensible.

The composition of the nightgown is a matter of taste. Canton flannel, linen and woolen goods stand at the head of the list; after these come the silks. One, however, which deserves special attention and which is equally suited for both sexes is the real china silk. This last is the best, but cannot be procured at prices within ordinary range of purse. If it can be bought it will give not only a necessary protection, but a comfortable and an enduring garment.

The matter of bed clothing is another thing deserving of thought, comprising that same relation to the body which the outer clothing should hold. A few simple rules should cover the entire ground, and they are comprised in four homely precepts: Use a hair or husk mattress, cover this mattress with a blanket, cover the blanket with a sheet, put a sheet, blankets and counterpane, or extras if you like, above this, and always bear in mind that a lowering of the body's temperature at night is not to be sanctioned.—New York World.

Blinding a Shark.

A successful diver must possess great courage and nerves of steel. Such a man, connected with a large wrecking company, was visiting the pearl fisheries in the gulf of California. On one of his trips in quest of the pearl oyster he had a narrow escape from a fearful death.

He had been instructed never to stir from the bottom until he had looked up and around. Fortunately he heeded the advice. Having filled his bag he glanced quickly about, and caught sight of a huge shovel nosed shark watching him.

In an emergency men think fast. Near the diver was a large rock. He moved quickly to the other side of it, hoping to dodge the ferocious monster. But the maneuver did not work; the shark watched every movement, changing his position by a slight motion of his powerful tail.

Time was precious, and the diver conceived the idea of blinding the shark by stirring up the mud. Under cover of that he might escape. He worked for dear life, and had the water thick with mud in less than half a minute.

Slipping around the rock again he rose to the surface, having barely strength enough to reach the side of the boat, and was hauled on board just as the voracious man eater made a rush for him.—Frank Leslie's Magazine.

Two Extremes.

There are many things which women do not approve in men, as there are doubtless many faults in the moral and mental composition of women which are distasteful to men.

The violence and abusiveness, the lack of dignity, and even those personal differences which are emphasized with blows it would be painful to see introduced into an assemblage of women. Nevertheless there is no reason why the other extreme of excessive amiability should be aimed at, with the caressing and petting that have their proper and only place within the four walls and the strict seclusion of home. It is a far cry from the masculine turbulence of a political primary to the excessive sweetness of the too "womanly" convention, but there lies between the two a golden mean, where courtesy and refinement and unceasing regard for the feelings of others are perfectly compatible with official dignity and refreshing good sense. —Chicago Inter Ocean.

Venetian Hospitality.

Whatever might have been said against the Venetians, they were a hospitable people—this, too, in small as well as in great matters. When, for example, in 1476, an ambassador from the khan of Tartary visited the city, and it was known that the khan and his suit carried but one shirt apiece in their bags, the senate formally voted twenty ducats, that they might be provided with additional shirts, which were accordingly made "alla tartaresca," and presented. We can imagine how the good councilors and citizens would enjoy this kindly little jest.—National Review.

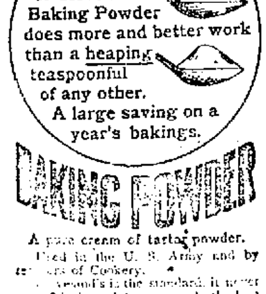

A Retort on Black Friday.

On that historic day in Wall street following the memorable Black Friday Gould's old partner, shaking his finger in the millionaire's face, shouted:

"I'll live to see the day, sir, when you'll have to earn a living by going around this street with a hand organ and a monkey."

"Maybe you will, Henry; maybe you will," was the retort. "And when I want a monkey, Henry, I'll send for you."—Exchange.

A Military Handkerchief.

Permission for soldiers to carry pocket handkerchiefs will now probably be given, for I see the war office authorities have sanctioned a military handkerchief being patented by Lieutenant Colonel Fulton.

On this handkerchief is printed all sorts of useful information concerning the use and construction of the Lee-Metford rifle, the alphabet used by army signalers, general rules to be observed in any position in which a soldier may find himself on campaign, the various bugle calls and other things, many of which are so nicely illustrated that it would be a thousand pities to use it in the manner naturally prompted by a cutting "nor'-easter."—Leeds Mercury.

In a Railroad Wreck.

"Say, these things are mighty funny afterward," said the baggageman, "but when they happen it's nothing to laugh about. When we bumped into that freight just out of Chicago three years ago I was sitting back in the car checking up. It threw me down and then I started to crawl for the back door. The tender telescoped and came through at me. It didn't stop till I was within four feet of the back of the car, and I sat there waiting for it to catch me. I remember it had '487' in red figures, and as it came grindin through at me every figure looked ten feet high. When it stopped I could reach out and touch it."—Chicago News-Record.

A Beautiful Toast.

On a grand day in the old chivalric times, when the lady of each knightly heart was pledged by name, when it came to St. Leon's turn he lifted the sparkling cup on high and gave them this: "I drink to one," he said, "whose image never may depart, deep carven on the human heart, till memory is dead." With that he paused as if he would not breathe her name in careless mood thus lightly to another, then bent his noble head as though to give that word the reverence due, and gently said—"my mother!"—London Tit-Bits.

English Law and Hidden Treasure.

It may be some encouragement to English treasure seekers, if any such there be in these enlightened days, to know that the laws of treasure trove only apply to such as is discovered by accident. Treasure discovered by systematic search would not come within this description, neither would finds discovered by astrological or cabalistic sciences or by the potent influence of the divining rod.—All the Year Round.

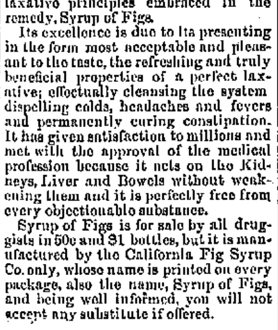

A gentleman performed the clever feat at a Birmingham Shakespeare club of proposing the toast of the poet's memory for nineteen years without repeating himself—a feat which most of us will envy.

A Kansas City man swallowed a door key early one morning. The Trenton (Mo.) Tribune says any one who mistakes his mouth for a keyhole should reform at once.

The Temple of Diana at Ephesus, which was about an even hundred years in building, was 450 feet to the first support of the roof.

Of traditions of buried treasure attaching to the sites of Roman camps and deserted cities there are plenty still to be met with.

Greek women wore the chiton, a sleeveless garment, and over it a shawl formed of a square piece of woolen goods.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

How It Feels to Be in a Railway Wreck.

"A man who has never been in a wreck wouldn't believe how long it takes for the cars to get through piling up," said another. "After the first crash there is a rebound clear to the back of the train, and then the whole thing takes another lunge, something gives way, and maybe three or four more cars telescope. Then there's another jerk backward and another lunge, and it seems as if the cracking and groaning and tumbling keep on for five minutes. When a man is mixed up with the trucks under the whole stack it seems like an hour."

"Make it an hour and a half," said an ex-brakeman as he scratched his nose with the only clawlike finger remaining at the end of a twisted and shriveled stump of a hand. The crowd knew how he had been dug out with a derrick and laughed at the joke.—Chicago News-Record.

Longevity in England.

The death rate in the Peak of Derbyshire is so low that the district rivals in salubrity the American village which was so extraordinarily healthy that the inhabitants who wished to "shuffle off this mortal coil" had to migrate into a neighboring town. The mortality at Buxton is nine per 1,000, at the adjacent hamlet of Flush it is said that death takes only the very young and very old, the infant and the patriarch. The sexton can almost tell whose grave he will next dig. In a similar manner at Edale, under the shadow of Kinderscout, death goes by seniority.

At Tideswell, also in the "Peake Countrie," there was, quite recently, the funeral of a man sixty-four years of age, whose father and mother were still living in the parish, having been married sixty-seven years.—Sala's Journal.

The Story of a Suicide.

I remember being called a year or two ago, in my capacity as police reporter, to a tenement on the west side—I think it was in West Thirty-seventh street—where a painter had that day cut his throat. Standing there by the corpse I learned from the sobbing widow that the man was desperate for want of work. He had been on the streets for weeks, and his children were starving. It happened that I had been for just the same length of time looking for a man to paint my house out in the country, where painters were scarce and very busy. I had just made up my mind to advertise that day. There lay this painter dead because he could find no one to give him work, while I would have been glad to pay him more than the wages of his trade to get him to work for me.

Had there been any means of bringing us together to which we would both naturally have resorted, he would have been alive and his family self supporting. Now it seemed certain to become a burden upon the public.

It was not the only instance of that sort by very many I had come across.—Jacob A. Riis in Forum.

In the Superior Court of the County of Fresno, State of California.

Action brought in the Superior Court, in and for the County of Fresno, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

Johanna Kuhnholz plaintiff vs. John Kuhnholz, defendant.

The people of the State of California send greeting to John Kuhnholz, defendant.

YOU ARE HEREBY REQUIRED TO APPEAR in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the Superior Court, in and for the County of Fresno, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the day of service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.
